

What was MOST VALUABLE about the convention?

- Spending time with friends, new and old. Having enough time to do that. It's not necessary to have something to do at all times. Leave some slack time for kicking tires! Keep vendor and art show together, with registration in the same room - this keeps the room alive and busy with traffic! Have tables and sit down area for folks to visit! We used a convention banquet room and had lots of tables, chairs and visitors.
- meeting all the people from the North West
- meeting like-minded people
- Wes Ingram tech talk, and Griots demo
- Seeing friends
- Pre-tour, connecting time
- Connecting with the Alfisti
- Believe it or not, the Board meeting and getting to connect with lots of enthusiasts from the West Coast that we only get to see when the convention is out that way.
- GTV Tech Session
- friendships and meeting Alfisti I haven't previously met
- track day
- Wisdom of Collecting Alfas
- Getting together with friends in the Alfa community, and those stunning cars at the Concours!
- The setting at the RL Olympia was great, as was seeing the incredible "big four" pre-war Alfas.
- It was in our own neighborhood
- Seeing old friends and making new ones
- The pre-convention drives and the Funkhana
- It was in our own neighborhood, and seeing and meeting new friends!
- The social interaction
- Time to kick tires with old friends, and pre-tours.
- Welcome reception, Banquet or track day (could not decide)
- Just looking at Alfas and talking with owners
- People/cars
- Concorso - and friendship of participants
- Wisdom of collecting Alfas
- Just to meet fellow Alfisti
- Friendships... events that gathered lots of people.
- The participants
- Comradery - the Alfisti collective
- The people
- getting together, meet the old friends and make new ones, beautiful location
- To meet other Alfa owners and the exchange of information.
- We cancelled our attendance for the convention. So we have no idea. Wish we had been there.
- Car detailing demo
- Talking with the other owners and viewing the cars.
- What went on in the parking lot with people and cars. The interviews with people about their cars and history of them and their car.
- as always social interaction
- meeting people
- Meeting Alfisti that I knew from online.
- Meeting new people
- contact with friends and other alfisti
- Pre-tour and hotel and display cars.
- Meeting US members
- Track day at the Ridge
- meeting members from around the US and beyond!
- Meeting fellow Alfisti™s.
- Active driving events
- Rally and tours and swap meet
- Talking to other Alfa owners
- The people that attended.
- Detailing seminar. Seeing lots of Alfas.
- The people
- Knowledge of Alfa Romero
- Close to home.
- opportunity to see pre-war cars that I would have never gotten to see
- The participants
- Interface with members of other regions.
- meeting people
- Welcoming new Alfa owners and all those interested in the marque, especially the younger owners. Renewing friendships and having fun.
- the contour was great. I enjoyed the rally. and of course the food and seeing old friends.
- The gathering of people and cars
- Meeting people
- Seeing friends
- Tour was great, both places visited and operating from convention hotel. Seeing the stunning old Alfas was a treat. Discussion of their owners was entertaining. The Board of Directors meeting was more informative and interesting than those of yore. Seeing Alfisti is certainly the most valuable aspect.

- time trials
- time trials
- meetup with friends; pre-convention tours/drives
- time trials, guest speaker/banquet
- the casual gatherings and spaces
- onsite concours
- congeniality of people - lots of smiles
- meeting fellow Alfisti
- meeting new people at each event - VOLUNTEERING!
- meeting fellow enthusiasts & making new friends
- seeing old friends, meeting new friends
- seeing friends & new ones; pre-convention based from hotel; RV parking at hotel
- all the events
- pre-tour
- the breadth of the events. the pre-tour was great. uses the same starting point
- the people and the friendship of the hosting chapter - FUN!!
- friends
- meeting old friends
- conversing among attendees; excellent hotel location and setting (grass! trees! rustic); race track close by.
- given that every event was desirable and enjoyable, perhaps the low cost was most valuable
- time trials
- talking and toasting new friends
- pre-convention tours
- Events, but with social flair and meeting new people
- The rare cars
- The wonderful people!
- The people
- see old friends
- Spending time with other like-minded people and more Alfas than you'd see in one place anywhere.
- the people and selection of cars, especially the pre war alfa's
- Connecting with other Alfa owners.
- It was well organized, affordable venue, and the track was only 30 min away.
- The only activities I participated in were the pre-convention tours, which is because tours are the best part of any convention as far as I am concerned and are therefore the most valuable.
